A New MoMA

The Museum of Modern Art re-opened to the public November 20, 2004.

This edition of SV consists of a multi-part photo portfolio of the new building and collection installation. Part A featured the entrance spaces and the contemporary collection, on Levels 1 and 2.

This is Part B, which features the pre-war modern art collection (Level 5) and the special exhibitions section (Level 6).

Part C features post-war modern art (Level 4), the design and architecture, photography, and drawings collections (Level 3), and the lower level Project Room.

The photographs in part A were taken November 15. The photos in this part and part C were taken opening day, November 20.
